Ladies' Guild Meets at Home of Mrs. Liesemer

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Guild was held at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) E. J. Liesemer on Thursday, April 14, twenty-two being present.

Devotionals were lead by Mrs. MacLeod. The minutes of the March meeting were read and approved.

Mrs. G. G. Smith and Mrs. N. Cary were appointed a committee to take charge of the home cooking sale in L. F. Chrestenson's store on May 7th.

The Guild purchased a lot from the C.P.R. for a building site for their new church.

Mrs. Shouldice of the Calgary Presbyterian gave a very interesting talk on W.M.S. work, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. E. Lewendon assisted Mrs. Liesemer in serving a delicious lunch.

Next month the Guild will be entertained by Mrs. V. M. Gilbert at the manse. Gleichen. We hope all our members will be able to attend.

Shouldice News

Miss Peggy Paton of the Bank of Commerce staff, Drumheller was the guest of Mrs. Weberg this past week.

Mr. H. Hough, manager of the Bank of Commerce in East Coulee, was also the guest of Mrs. Weberg.

Mrs. Weberg wishes to thank the people of Shouldice, Queens town, and Milo districts, who helped and donated so much in making the Vimy Ridge supper a success in Queenstown Hall on Friday April 15th.

Farewell Surprise Party for Harold Eshom

On Friday, evening of last week, a number of young people from Arrowwood gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Eshom, in the form of a surprise party for Harold, who will be leaving shortly with his parents for Tonasket, Wash., where they will make their future home. The evening was spent in games. Around 12 o'clock a delightful lunch was served in Cafeteria style. After lunch all joined hands in singing "For He is a Jolly Good Fellow", and every one wished Harold every success in his home.

Arrowwood Y.P.S. Hike is Postponed

The hike which had to be postponed on account of the bad weather, will take place next Thursday evening, the weather permitting. Members are again requested to meet at Verna Ingraham's at 6.30 p.m. and an enjoyable time is anticipated. A full turnout of members is expected.

The Value of Athletics

The following is a paper given by Mr. H. McCullough at the last meeting of the P.T.A.

In the schools of the present day there are many various studies which the pupils are compelled to pursue, and it is just possible that this phase of the work may too often affect the athletic side of the child's life. In the school the pupils are imparted with knowledge but this fund of material will prove burdensome to the child unless methods are established whereby some enjoyment each day is made possible. To a large extent, the encouragement of athletics will solve the difficulty.

Comparing the present school age with the past, it is easily to be seen that a vast change has occurred in the methods of teachings and the subject-matter presented. The modern teacher is confronted now with the problem of just how to make the school-work pleasurable. This can largely be done by a variation in daily work of the child. We know from our personal experience that too much of the same thing is monotonous and so it is with the child. All children have certain talents and they are all delighted with a game whether it be physical or mental.

As to the value of athletics the phase which will pertain to us most will be the activities on the playground. The school children begin to assemble on the grounds any time after 8 o'clock in the morning, and they are in company with each other until the end of the day. What do we find them doing before the bell rings for assembling? Some are playing marbles, some playing baseball, it may be skipping, swinging, basketball, or other physical activities. This then leads us to believe that it is human nature to seek amusement or recreation in games. And so we believe athletics are valuable.

Athletics provide a variety from the work of the classroom. The child begins at nine o'clock concentrating on class studies and experience has proven, that the child is more progressive in his studies if there are intermissions where he can have physical activities and a rest from mental work. After recess the child returns to the room feeling fresh and enthusiastic towards his work.

Athletics also develop the physical ability of the child. All persons require a certain amount of exercise and muscular exercises if good health is to be insured. And as the time for development is in the childhood days in the schools, then athletics should be encouraged.

Athletics also have a strong tendency to develop sportsmanship. True it is that sports and games sometimes lead to enmity, jealousy, and hatred; but these obstacles can quite easily be overcome with supervision. Games teach the pupils to be good losers as well as winners.

Then as to social relationship:

Rain, Sleet and Ice Cause of Much Damage

Telephone, Telegraph and Power Lines Broken But the Moisture is Joyfully Received by the Farmers.

We have seen some peculiar weather around Arrowwood but our latest storm has been the most peculiar of all. It was a mixture of driving rain, sleet and snow. This apparently froze immediately on falling and the result was an accumulation of ice around wires, plants, doors, etc. Telephone wires, telegraph wires, power lines, clothes lines and aerial wires were coated with ice an inch or two in diameter with icicles 7 or 8 inches long. One can see telephone and electric light wires, etc., lying strewn along the sidewalks and nearly half the telephone poles are down, in surrounding countryside. The authorities are going to have their hands full getting things back to normal. However, this will mean work for some of our unemployed, so we see, it's an ill wind that blows nobody good.

The branches of the trees and shrubs around town are either weighed down or broken under the weight of their heavy burden. It surely is a sad sight.

Practically all the telephones in town are out of commission. We have no electric light and except for our train service that only comes now and then, we are cut off from the rest of the universe.

It is to be hoped that the worst of the storm is over. If the farmers wanted moisture they sure have got it with a vengeance.

Western Canada farmers are being urged plant at least 10 acres hardy, drought-resisting grass as measure to hold moisture and food for stock in years of light precipitation.

Conduct Club

By DR. SMITH

Yes, it is nothing more than the ordinary Question Box and all our readers are invited to send in questions regarding the Bible belief or conduct. Address your questions to Dr. Smith, care Bow Valley Resource.

Of course Dr. Smith is a pseudonym. But we have secured the services of a well known Minister of wide experience and good academic standing, who will conduct this department. But we reserve the right of selecting the questions to be answered. It would be much better if all questions were signed by those who submit them. Names or initials will not be published and questions will be treated confidentially. But unsigned questions will not necessarily be refused on that account.

QUESTION: Can modern denominationalism be defended?

Our question for this issue is that of denominationalism. To answer it satisfactorily one must take into consideration some of the causes of its rise. For example, the Reformation took at least two distinct forms. The Presbyterianism of Calvin and the ritual or semi-ritual churches as the Lutheran bodies and the Church of England and the reaction on the Roman Catholic Church was very healthy. So there are very few today who do not feel that the Reformation brought health to both sides. Again the great non-conformist bodies of the Old Country, mainly the Baptist and Congregational Churches, served a good purpose. Whether or not the old churches could have been so reformed that these movements were not necessary one can scarcely say. But the fact is that they were not and therefore the others were necessary. Of course any church historian will acknowledge that many of our sects have no real reason for their existence. But the very fact that such a question has been asked is evidence that people are thinking in the

Pleasant Evening Spent at the Chrestenson Home

The Misses Carol Chrestenson and Isabelle MacLeod entertained a number of the younger folk of the town last Friday evening at the residence of Mr. L. F. Chrestenson. The crowd began to assemble about 8.30 and shortly afterwards partners were drawn and six tables of bridge were seated. The first four hands were of the novelty variety and Dame Fortune took its toll in many cases. Following the first four hands the novelty bridge developed into plain auction bridge, when the tension was relieved by all being allowed to speak freely again.

At 12 o'clock a very sumptuous supper table was spread and many a hearty appetite was soon satisfied with tasty delicacies. Prizes for the evening's bridge were awarded to Phoebe Washburn and Jack MacLeod, who proved the invincible throughout the evening.

Upon completion of the supper, the tables were cleared away and dancing was indulged in by the happy feet. The dances were of the novelty type and the originality of them added to their pleasure. The party broke up about 2.30 after an evening of great enjoyment.

Those present were: Mr. L. F. Chrestenson, the misses Carol and Eileen Chrestenson, Isabel McLeod, Alma Connell, Mary Mitchell, Alice Archambault, Isabel Mackie, Leoma Spencer, Verna Ingraham, Kathy and Isabel McLeod, Phoebe Washburn, Marjorie Leonard, Dorothy Vancil, Jean McLeod.

Tennis Notes

The Tennis season has started with a bang and every player from the youngest to the oldest is showing plenty of enthusiasm. Owing to the inclemency of the weather lately, we have had rather a set back, but nevertheless the future for a successful season is very bright indeed.

There appears to be lots of talent and with some practice, the club is going to have numerous first rate players. Talking about practice one player was overheard to state, when told he had just played a very lucky shot, that he had practised that certain stroke for the past twenty years. Now that's what one would call perseverance! It goes to show that the standard of perfection can be attained if one really sets one's mind to do it. Remember the old slogan "Practice makes perfect." If your racquet does not know any tricks, it is willing to be taught some. Of course, it is different when you borrow someone else's racquet, for that is when you have to start at

How It Works

One of childhood's choicest queries has ever been and ever will be "How does it work?" and it seemed a wholly enthralling idea to two young passengers, who recently travelled from Nottingham, England, to Lemberg, Sask., when Engineer Fred Munt, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, invited them into the cab of his huge "2800" type locomotive. The young travellers were Walter and Willie Wilson, aged 12 and 10 years, who journeyed alone from their grandmother's home in the Old Country to join their mother. They crossed the Atlantic in the Canadian Pacific liner Montclare and the Dominion on C. P. R. lines, making many friends and seeing many absorbing sights en route. Pictureshows the interested pair and their kindly tutor in a brief explanation of the mysteries of the gauges of the great engine. And what boy, either in Canada or England, would not envy them?

"Clean-Up Week"

In one of those immortal passages in the English language, Ruskin has described parts of the little town of Croydon. The litter behind those iron bars and the rubbish laden creek haunts one's memory. But leaders like Ruskin have helped make the "tight little island" the home land of the world.

And nature enters her protest in the blanket of snow and grass. How welcome the first snow is. With dead vegetation scattered everywhere, the snow hides all unseenliness and often we have walked through some grass-covered fields and stumbled over pieces of old wood, iron or other refuse concealed beneath the covering of green, and as the years pass our prairie towns are losing more of that wind swept barrenness and fences covered with thistles, papers, rags, and tin. In giving a hand to friendly nature we tend to make her land a thing of beauty which it was meant to be. And there is an intensely practical side. Fire and flood are the worst foes to man's material wealth. Open channels prevent flood and clean surroundings lessen the danger from fire. Particularly is this the case in unprotected villages where a fire fighting apparatus is at a minimum and the fire started stops only when there is nothing left to burn.

We heartily support our authorities in their effort to make a clean and more beautiful village.

UNUS SOLUS

Flour Week

It is said that the elevators are full, and to move the contents will improve business. So what would be wrong in having a "flour week"? Wives would feed us on pies, cakes, puddings and the old stand-by known as jam roly poly. Dumplings in stew are great and even if we get lots of indigestion, we would be sure of dough that week. What is better than setting your teeth into a deep apple pie after the style of the claws of a steam shovel, biting out a foundation? Does the mention of it make your mouth water?

If every home used flour for one week in making the above goodies, we would soon use up a great deal of the wheat in the elevators. We hope to soon see advertised a week called, "Say it With Flour"

One step won't take you very far—
You've got to keep on walking;
One word won't tell what you are—
You've got to keep on talking.
One inch won't make you very tall—
You've got to keep on growing
One little advt won't do it all—
You've got to keep 'em going.

Goitre

In the front of the neck is situated the thyroid gland. This particular organ belongs to the group of glands which produces a secretion that is passed directly into the blood stream, and which are known as glands of internal secretion. The thyroid is an important gland and serious disorders occur if the gland produces too much or too little of its secretion.

The most common change which takes place is an enlargement of the gland described as "simple goitre." This condition is apparently the result of insufficient in either the food or the water, or in both. It occurs most frequently during adolescence, and is more prevalent in certain localities than in others.

Simple goitre is readily cured provided the patient is placed under treatment when the swelling is first noticed. Iodine given in the proper quantities will prevent simple goitre, but it should be taken according to the directions of a physician.

It is necessary to warn against the indiscriminate use of iodine. The success which has followed the use of iodine in preventing simple goitre has led many to believe that iodine will cure or aid all forms of thyroid disease. This is a mistaken idea and it has resulted in a great deal of harm.

There are conditions other than simple goitre in which the thyroid gland is enlarged. The use of iodine in such cases is not to be considered unless the patient is under observation by a physician. Iodine is a substance with which we are familiar and we have become accustomed to applying it freely to breaks in our skin; however we should not fail to understand that it is not to be taken internally, as treatment, unless prescribed.

The progress which has been made in treating goitre is one of the real achievements of modern medicine. Successful treatment is, in many cases made difficult on account of iodine, in an injudicious manner, by the patient before coming for treatment.

When there is enlargement of the thyroid gland, there is only one safe course to pursue and that is to find out what form of enlargement it is—as there are several forms of goitre—and then have proper treatment prescribed.

This note of warning against the self-provide internal use of iodine as a means of treating all goitre is necessary because is being so used and the practise is causing much needless suffering and harm.

The largest shipment of Government-approved cockerels for any one breeder or hatcheryman in Canada arrived recently by Canadian Pacific special at Fergus, Ont., from Winnipeg to the order of J. G. Tweddle, of the former city. The birds were selected by government inspectors from the choicest flocks from British Columbia to Nova Scotia. During the last four years Mr. Tweddle has shipped an average of 200,000 chickens to various points between the Atlantic and Pacific.

Competition between truck and railroad service is shown in a new angle by a letter recently to a Reading paper, "Labor." A cattle raiser of Niobrara, Nebraska, tried out both methods, shipping cattle by truck and by railroad. On the railroad there was a shrinkage of 21 pounds for each animal; by truck there was a shrinkage of 98 pounds each. What the raiser saved on freight he much more than lost on the animals shipped by truck, where the value of the shrinkage amounted to $13.14 on each animal. (612)

John Deere-Van Brunt Pony Press Grain Drill

Furnished with Pulverizer-Packer —or Tongue Truck

Here is the new John Deere-Van Brunt seeding outfit that is making it possible for one man to do a once-over job of plowing, pulverizing, seeding and covering. It is built to do a good seeding job while working directly behind your John Deere three-bottom tractor plow.

The complete outfit consists of the well-known John Deere-Van Brunt Low Down Press Drill and a special pulverizer-packer attachment which runs ahead of the drill, crushing the lumps and removing air spaces just before the seed is deposited.

The pulverizer-packer attachment takes the place of the regular tongue truck on the John Deere-Van Brunt Pony Press Drill. It is either furnished as an extra, or as a part of the complete machine.

You can turn short corners with this outfit; pulverizer and drill always follow plow. There is very little side-draft and no added weight on the plow beams as hitch is made direct to plow hitch instead of to main body of plow. The drill is controlled from the seat of the tractor; the gear throw-out attachment permits the driver to throw the drill in or out of gear by simply pulling the rope attached to it.

The drill is built strong, to give long, dependable service. Has the same Adjustable Patented Gate Force Feeds and other features which identify John Deere-Van Brunt drills and insure satisfaction to the user.

We recommend this outfit when it is advisable to plow and seed at the same time.

The Value of Athletics

here again athletics prove of immense value. The school may, and should have its baseball, basketball, hockey teams etc. In the games, whether they be competitive or not, the players are brought into social and athletic relationships with one another whereby they can compare abilities, see mistakes, and find methods for improvement. Not only does the team carry with it a school spirit but the school is interested in the team representing it. This expresses the idea of loyalty and love for the school which the pupils are attending. Does this not encourage better work both in athletics and school studies?

If we were to delve into the past history we find that the various classes and nationalities had their athletes and stadiums. The Olympic games were held at stated intervals in honor of Olympus. These were tests in athletics and great was the competition between the athlete and the crowds who witnessed the games. The people assembled at the stadium where they met together, saw the favorites win or lose, and were gratified to see the winner crowned with a laurel of olive as a token of victory.

It is not necessary to go so far back in history to get good illustrations to show the value of athletics. The recent boat race between Oxford and Cambridge held some weeks ago, shows the interest which the public take in athletics. Great has been the rivalry of these two colleges since 1894 for supremacy, Cambridge winning 49 times and Oxford 40 times. Think of the interest which the students of these two colleges must have, to say nothing of the responsibility lying upon the shoulders of the athletes representing each college.

Outstanding athletes of the present day are idolized by children. What boy or girl would not like to be a Babe Ruth, Jack Dempsey, William Tilden, Helen Wills, Gladys Fry, or George Young? Nearly every child is familiar with some of these and live in hope that some day, they may take the places of these noted athletes.

During the child's school life the value of money features little—they think largely of the fun and amusement which would be attached to one of the above athletes—but little they realize that the time to begin training is while young. We know that many a professional hockey player has learned his hockey right on the playground of the Calgary public schools; and odd it may seem to us when we are told that several of these players when young would sit in school so that they would be ready to play at dismissal. They were developing the athletic talents while young. Was it valuable?

From the financial view we must say yes. Athletics are their life work and every winter they look forward to the new season. In order to play these games the body must be in good physical condition and so from that view athletics are again of value.

By investigating the conduct of colleges and universities we find that they all have their athletic exams. Some of the athletes may go to college for the sole purposes of playing on Autumn sowing of all grains in Soviet Russia last year amounted to 95,400,000 acres, representing a decrease of 10.8 per cent from the official fall sowing programme mapped out by the government, according to a recent cable received by the Canadian Department of Trade and Commerce.

Week-end trips, so popular last year on Canadian Railway lines, will remain in force this year after February 29, the date set for their discontinuation. The Canadian Passenger Association has reached this decision under pressure of public demand. Under this arrangement, round trip tickets between any Canadian stations for any week-end are offered by the railways at the rate of one and a quarter times the regular single fare.

Mr. and Mrs. Eshom expect to leave next week for Tonasket, Wash., where they will reside in future.

Son—"Dad, what's a matrimonial bureau?"

Dad—"It's a bureau with six drawers parked full of women's fixings and one man's necktie."

Village of Arrowwood

NOTICE

The residents of the village are hereby respectfully asked to make the week of April 18 to 23 a clean up week and to clean up and burn all weeds and rubbish on their property and in lanes and alleys adjacent to their property. By doing this they will greatly add to the appearance of the village and also lessen the danger of fire.

(Signed)

opposite direction today. With the opening of the twentieth century the foolishness, it not the irony, of disunion became very burdensome. Rev. Mr. Campbell, himself a Presbyterian minister, made a real effort toward union in a simplified creed. After a series of unions in both Presbyterianism and Methodism prior to the opening of the century, 1902 saw definite steps taken which ended in the union of 1925. In the meantime national union churches were formed in China and India. In 1920 the Lambeth Conference issued its "Appeal to all churches to unite," which was backed by the same conference ten years later. Two world conventions have been held under the international committee on Faith and Order with all Christian churches, except the Roman Catholic, taking part. And that church has renewed and reinforced her appeal for the other branches to come back to the fold. Since the Canadian union there has been union in both Scotland and England, Australia and South Africa have a movement under consideration. And just a couple of years ago India completed another union including the Church of England in India and this received the sanction of the Lambeth Conference of 1930. While one cannot criticize severely the former break from the churches today the spirit of God leads toward union. Personally I feel that the denominations have made distinct contributions to religious thought and practice, but today we so understand Jesus that the same end may be attained through unions.

the beginning again, as it does not know the tricks that you thought it did.

When all this rain and sleet and snow get cleared away and the sun comes out again and when the courts are rolled and tapes relaid, tennis in Arrowwood is going to be allright. It's sure nice to be down there early in the morning, when all the birds are out, some twittering to you from the top of the wire netting backstop and hopping around the court. A Blessed Sight! Yea! verily!

They say that the High River Tennis Club has invited the Arrowwoodians over there on the 24th of May, weather permitting, to compete in their grand opening tennis tournament. The following events will be competed for—men's doubles, men's singles, ladies doubles, ladies singles and mixed doubles. An entry fee of 50c per player per event will be charged. Arrowwood can, we are sure, do itself a lot of credit in this tournament.

When the courts are put in order we are going to stage a tournament of our own and a big entry will be expected. "Ad In"
